Ivy Oil: Composed of glycosides, saponins, inositol, phosphoric acid, malic and chlorogenic. Ivy is well known for its toning, astringent and refinement properties. Ivy extract has properties slimming and anti-cellulite, by preventing the accumulation of water in the superficial tissues. Ivy Extract is currently studied for its vasoconstricting properties due to its Vitamin P. It decreases the sensitivity of the tissue, activates circulation, helps reduce local inflammation.

Glycerin: It is a derivative that is obtained from vegetable oils and fats. It is a substance that is present in almost all cosmetic products, because of its structure can maintain the right degree of hydration of the skin, retaining water on the skin surface.
